Changing jobs

Life Insurance

As long as you work for an eligible employer and continue to meet the participant life insurance eligibility requirements, your RPB life insurance coverage travels with you.

LTD and Contribution Insurance

LTD coverage and contribution insurance end when you leave an employer. But if you go to work for another eligible employer, your new employer can re-enroll you in RPB's LTD plan to maintain continuous coverage. Contribution insurance may resume once you've re-enrolled in LTD, if you still meet the eligibility requirements.

In the event you leave your job mid-year, you can receive a prorated refund of your LTD premium by contacting your former employer. If you change jobs to an ineligible employer, you can convert your RPB life insurance and AD&D policies to an individual MetLife policy within 31 days of your termination date.

Setting up beneficiaries

Log in to the MyRPB for Participants web portal to designate your beneficiary(ies)—the person(s) who will receive the money from your life and AD&D insurance policy.
